

Dear Hiring team at Butterfield,

I am excited to apply for the Student, Emerging Technologies position at Fidelity Canada. As a master's student in Applied Computer Science at Dalhousie University, I am eager to bring my technical expertise, problem-solving abilities, and enthusiasm for innovative technology solutions to your esteemed organization.

With Fidelity's commitment to embracing innovation and fostering inclusive growth, I am confident this role aligns perfectly with my academic background and professional aspirations. Here's how I can contribute to your team:

Key Qualifications and Skills

- Proficiency in Python: My hands-on experience including developing automation scripts showcases my ability to write efficient, maintainable, and optimized code.
- Project Lifecycle Management: From requirement gathering to deployment, I have successfully led end-to-end projects, ensured timely delivery while met user needs.
- UI/UX Understanding: With a focus on creating intuitive designs, I've collaborated with teams to ensure that applications deliver a seamless and engaging user experience.
- Application Development: I have professional experience developing Android and iOS applications. Also, I have academic and personal experience in web development and backend applications.

Why Fidelity?

What excites me most about this opportunity is Fidelity's innovative approach to technology and its mission to improve financial futures for clients. The Emerging Technologies team's focus on automation, artificial intelligence, and data-driven solutions perfectly aligns with my passion for leveraging technology to drive efficiency and enhance user experience.

The chance to contribute to projects such as developing autonomous programs, enhancing operational processes, and researching emerging technologies excites me, as these tasks align closely with my academic training and prior project experiences.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to contribute to Fidelity's mission and learn from its diverse and dynamic team. I look forward to discussing how my skills and experiences align with your needs.

Best regards,

Vraj Shah

+1 (902) 994-1436

vr597381@dal.ca

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/vraj-shah-6378941b7/> | <https://github.com/shah-vraj>